SIU clears cop

PROBE The province's Special Investigations Unit has cleared an Ottawa police officer of any criminal responsibility after the officer responded to a disturbance prior to the death of two city residents last month.

Ian Scott, director of the SIU, has concluded there are no reasonable grounds to believe the officer committed a criminal offence in this case.

The SIU assigned two investigators and two forensic investigators to probe the circumstances of the deaths of 24-year-old Ashley Boudreau and 33-year-old Andrew Ferguson.

4 medals and a quarter-final win on Day 13

All the hand-wringing and worry became a distant memory yesterday as a polished Team Canada devastated Russia's defence and neutralized its top scorers, summarily dispatching the hockey superpower 7-3 from the Olympic men's hockey tournament.

But that was only the beginning. Within minutes of the end of the game, Canada's female bobsledders were dominating on a different kind of ice, racing to a gold-silver finish in the women's two-man event at the Whistler Sliding Centre.

Kaillie Humphries of Calgary and Heather Moyse of Summerside, P.E.I., claimed gold, edging teammates Helen Upperton of Calgary and Shelly-Ann Brown of Pickering, Ont., giving Canada its first-ever medals in women's bobsled.

Combined with a bronze for speedskater Clara Hughes in the women's 5,000 metres and a surprise silver in the women's 3,000-metre short-track relay, it made for a four-medal day — the best for Canada so far at the Vancouver Olympics.

The hockey win had a particularly vengeful flavour for Team Canada, which was eliminated by Russia 2-0 in the quarter-finals four years ago in Turin. It was also the first Canadian win over Russia in an Olympic matchup since 1960.

Peer review coming for OC Transpo

TIM WIECLAWSKI
tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

CITY HALL The American Public Transit Association will be brought in to do a top-to-bottom review of Ottawa's public transit services.

Yesterday, city council voted to engage the APTA to undertake a formal peer review of OC Transpo's bus programs, customer service, staffing, training, recruiting — almost every aspect of the business.

West Carleton-March Coun. Eli El-Chantiry proposed the review in the wake of several high-profile missteps at OC Transpo, including maintenance-related service disruptions at the start of the year, Smart Bus procurement, and the escalating cost of the new articulated bus garage.

El-Chantiry said the review was not a reflection on management at OC Transpo, but since the last comprehensive review of OC Transpo was done in 1998, it was time to take another look.

Council also voted to have the yet-to-be appointed chief procurement officer convene a panel to review recent purchases by OC Transpo, including the articulated bus garage.

Innes Ward Coun. Rainer Bloess said it was wrong to label the garage a blunder. Councillors approved the spending increase each time the costs rose, he said.

Worker critically hurt in oil tank explosion

INVESTIGATION A 34-year-old worker is in critical condition with serious head injuries after an oil tank exploded inside a car repair facility yesterday afternoon.

At around 12:50 p.m., the man was welding at his workplace on Merivale Road when a nearby oil tank exploded. The worker suffered serious head injuries, a fractured jaw and minor burns to his face. He was conscious at the arrival of paramedics, but began losing consciousness a few minutes later. The Ministry of Labour is investigating.

Lansdowne designers get tour

Expectations high for 'vision' to reflect city's culture, dynamism

tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

There are high expectations for the five firms competing to design the new front lawn of Lansdowne Park.

Representatives from the teams had a whirlwind tour of Ottawa yesterday to get a sense of how the eastern section of the park is to reflect the city and the country.

City planner John Smit told them that Lansdowne had to be a landmark site that distinguishes the city and celebrates the art and culture of the city, while still reflecting Ottawa's role as the national capital.

"This is what we see as the vision for the Lansdowne Park Project," said Smit. "It presents an opportunity for Ottawa as a city to have its own dynamic and unique urban plan."

The National Capital Commission owns most large green spaces and parkways in the city, including the Queen Elizabeth Driveway.

NCC planner Lori Thornton told the design teams that only two access points to the park were permitted from the driveway. The NCC would not allow any turning lanes or lay-bys. They also hoped to see another pedestrian bridge over the Rideau Canal.

Parks Canada wanted to see the "front lawn" reflect the world heritage status of the site. Exterior relations director Pam Buell said a park-like setting is highly valued.

Community organizations will be presenting their requests to the design firms today in the Champlain Room at city hall.

The firms will present their proposals to the public in May.

Council holds the line on urban expansion

TRACEY TONG
tracey.tong@metronews.ca

BOUNDARY Rather than cave to pressure from developers, city council voted to defend their decision last June to limit urban boundary expansion to 222 hectares yesterday.

After rejecting an expansion of the urban boundary to 842 hectares last summer, council voted for a smaller expansion over five years, and yesterday, voted 17-3 to defend the decision, despite appeals to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Outside city hall, about 60 concerned residents and members of local groups had rallied to ask council to hold the urban boundary line.

"We're here to make sure Ottawa plans better for the future," said rally organizer Will Murray with Our Ottawa.

"We have a system in place right now that subsidizes urban sprawl. We have to sort out how we can do better at that. For the next 20 years, there is already enough space within the urban boundary for single family homes."

Rally organizer Will Murray speaks at an event to hold the urban boundary line outside city hall yesterday. City council later voted to defend their 2009 decision to limit urban boundary expansion to 222 hectares.

"We need to build an effective and efficient city," said Our Ottawa member Bob Brocklebank. "There's no way we can build an efficient city by creating scattered communities."

Providing services "way out in the middle of nowhere" costs a lot of money, he said.

"Also, consider young families who are thinking about moving into one of these areas," Brocklebank said.

"There's a big cost for them too. Not just in their property tax, but that young family knows they'll never have transit in their community."

"This is not an efficient way to run a city."

TRACEY TONG

After a drier than average month, a few snow days this week will likely bring Ottawa's precipitation level back to normal.

Ottawa had received eight centimetres of snow — and counting — by 2 p.m. yesterday, bringing the monthly total to 25 centimetres in February, said Peter Kimbell, warning preparedness meteorologist with Environment Canada. The normal for February is 46 centimetres.

The snow will continue today, said Kimbell.

"We're quickly catching up and making up for the dry month," he said.

Ottawa is currently in the middle of "a very interesting storm system," said Kimbell.

A low-pressure system over the Atlantic is moving north, bringing with it mild Atlantic air, he said. The warmer air is moving northwest into eastern Ontario and southern Quebec, bringing rain and causing temperatures to creep upwards.

The next few days will be mild in Ottawa, with the temperature rising to five degrees tomorrow. Temperatures will also be above average early next week.

"We'll see mild conditions for a few days yet," Kimbell said. "When it will return to normal is difficult to say."

67's, cops team up for fallen officer

FUNDRAISER The Ottawa Police Service and the Ottawa Police Association have teamed up with the Ottawa 67's to recognize and honour Const. Ireneusz (Eric) Czapnik's service to the community.

Tomorrow is the last day to buy tickets for the March 3 breakfast served by Ottawa 67's players and coaches in the Assembly Hall of the Urbandale Centre at Lansdowne Park.

Tickets are $30, include breakfast as well as a ticket for the Friday, March 5 home game against the Barrie Colts at 7:05 p.m. and can be purchased by calling the Ottawa Police Association at 613-232-9434 or Dan Nielson at 613-232-6767, ext. 257.

Proceeds will be forwarded to the trust fund for Czapnik's children.

Yes, you can be as Canadian as maple syrup

EH? Do you know what to do if a Canada goose attacks? No? Then you may not be a real Canadian.

But fear not.

Canada Place, a waterfront convention centre that is home to the main press centre for the duration of the Olympics, has produced a Guide To Becoming An Authentic Canadian for visitors to the Vancouver Games.

The first step is to know your Canadian icons. The beaver, maple leaf, Canada goose and moose make the list, along with Mounties, loonies and toonies, bears and the toque.

Step Two is to eat and drink like a Canadian — which, says the guide, involves maple syrup, beer ("We like. We like it a lot.") and lobster.

Throw in some poutine, Canadian bacon, salmon and a donut.

The third step is to talk the talk — with good manners?

"Canadians are polite and apologetic," says the booklet. "Don't be surprised if someone apologizes to you even if you were the one at fault."

The booklet advises foreign visitors that the proper letter of the alphabet is zed, not zee, and provides the words to the national anthem, O Canada, in both English and French.

A Danish miracle mom

When Stinne Holm Bergholdt of Denmark was diagnosed with bone cancer at age 27, she was afraid she wouldn't be able to have children.

So she asked her doctors if they could remove an ovary before her treatment and transplant it back afterward.

More than six years later, Bergholdt and her husband now have two daughters, making her the first woman in the world to give birth twice after an ovary transplant.

Details of her case were being published online today in the journal, Human Reproduction.

"It's hard to believe it's really true," said Bergholdt, of Odense, Denmark. "It's like a dream that I never would have thought possible a few years ago."

On the day before she started chemotherapy, doctors took 13 strips of ovarian tissue from Bergholdt's right ovary and froze them. After eight months of cancer treatment and another year of recovery, doctors reimplanted seven of the strips, or about 20 per cent of an entire ovary.

Bergholdt's ovary began working again after a few months, and she then had in-vitro fertilization to become pregnant. Nearly a year later, she gave birth to daughter Aviaja, now three. Bergholdt's treatment was paid for by the Danish health system.

When Bergholdt and her husband decided they wanted a second child, they went back to the fertility clinic, but it turned out that she was already pregnant. About a year ago, she gave birth to another daughter, Lucca.

"We were really surprised that she had done it herself," said Dr. Claus Yding Andersen, one of Bergholdt's doctors at University Hospital of Copenhagen. "We did not expect the ovary transplant to still be working after four years."

The transplant is working so well that Bergholdt is currently on birth control.

Eight children have been born worldwide to women who have had ovary transplants but no other such woman has had more than one pregnancy.

The technique has been mostly used for cancer patients but could become more widespread as the technology is refined, Andersen said.

"It shows we can stop the clock by freezing the ovaries," he said.

Women who want to delay having children might also be interested in the procedure although that could raise some ethical issues, he added.

Not enough being done to limit date-rape drugs: report

DRUGS Governments must step up their efforts to limit access to date-rape drugs, a watchdog said yesterday.

Referring to sedatives that are added to a person's drink to reduce his or her ability to resist sexual assault, the International Narcotics Control Board said in its annual report that governments should quickly adopt measures to limit illegal access to such substances, and increase public awareness of the risks of leaving food and drinks unattended at public events such as parties.

The report also called for more consistency in the compiling and sharing of date-rape-drug statistics, and for improved analysis of urine samples in suspected cases of abuse.

Jail for woman who cried rape

SENTENCING A woman who fabricated a gang-rape accusation has been sentenced to up to three years behind bars herself, saying she was riven with remorse for sending an innocent man to prison.

Biurny Peguero, 27, pleaded guilty in December to perjury, admitting she made up the September 2005 incident that led to construction worker William McCaffrey being jailed for nearly four years. A judge overturned his rape conviction in December, with new DNA evidence also playing a role.

Peguero had said McCaffrey and two others lured her into a car and raped her.

Toyota boss sorry for safety problems

Toyoda testifies at U.S. Congress meeting

Toyota CEO Akio Toyoda apologized yesterday to the U.S. Congress — and millions of American Toyota owners — for safety lapses that led to deaths and widespread recalls for accelerator and braking failures. But he disputed claims by some safety experts that the cars' electronic throttles might be at fault.

"I'm deeply sorry for any accident that Toyota drivers have experienced," said the grandson of the founder of the world's largest automaker.

Amid a phalanx of cameras, Toyoda, dressed in a dark suit, stood before the House Oversight and Gov-

Recalls

- Toyota has recalled 8.5 million vehicles worldwide, including 270,000 in Canada, mostly to fix problems with floor mats trapping gas pedals or with pedals getting stuck.

ernment Reform Committee, raised his right hand and promised to tell the truth.

House committee chairman Edolphus Towns welcomed him and thanked him for volunteering to testify.

"We're very impressed with that. It shows your commitment to safety as well," Towns said.

Toyoda pledged his company would change the way it handles consumer complaints, including seeking greater input from drivers and outside safety experts when considering recalls. Toyota managers will also drive cars under investigation to experience potential problems first hand, he said.

Toyoda told the panel he was "absolutely confident" there was no problem with the electronics of Toyota vehicles and repeated the company's stance that sudden accelerations were caused by either a sticking gas pedal or a misplaced floor mat. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

January surge leaves less supply in housing market

REAL ESTATE Canada's housing market is in tight supply after a surge in activity during January, a traditionally slow month for the industry, says real-estate giant Re/Max.

The sales organization said yesterday that in most of the 16 major markets tracked by the organization there was an unusually strong amount of activity, motivated by a series of external factors.

The uptick was felt in 87.5 per cent of the markets surveyed, while the average home price appreciated 81 per cent, it found in a survey.

Home buyers have entered the market amid expectations of higher interest rates and tighter lending, as well as the introduction of Harmonized Sales Tax in British Columbia and Ontario, Re/Max said.

"Affordability is the catalyst for the vast majority of purchasers in today's housing market," said Elton Ash, the executive vice-president of Re/Max in Western Canada.

"While home ownership is still within reach in many major centres, levels are slipping. There is a growing sense, on both sides of the fence, that the time to act is now."

Toronto is being affected the most, with a 41 per cent decline in active home listings. Ottawa is down about 30 per cent, the survey said.

Rinne gets extension

The Nashville Predators have signed goaltender Pekka Rinne, left, to a two-year, $6.8 million US contract extension. The team said yesterday the deal will pay him $2.8 million in 2010-11 and $4 million in 2011-12. The 27-year-old Rinne has a 20-12-4 record in his second full NHL season. As a rookie in 2008-09, he was 29-15-4.

'This is where I want to be': Jeter

Derek Jeter reiterated what every Yankees fan wanted to hear: He hopes to play in pinstripes forever.

He just doesn't want to spend time talking about his future in New York.

"I've said from Day One, this is the only organization I've ever wanted to play for, and that's still true today," Jeter said yesterday before the team's first full-squad gathering at George M. Steinbrenner Field.

"I was a Yankees fan growing up. This is where I want to be. I've never envisioned myself playing anywhere else, and hopefully I don't have to," he said.

The 35-year-old Jeter is entering the final season of a $189 million US, 10-year deal. The All-Star shortstop said he doesn't have a set number of years in mind that he'd like to continue playing and steered around a question about whether he has a desire to be the Yankees' highest-paid player.

He said this will be the final time he speaks about his contract status.

Jeter hit .334 with 18 homers and 66 RBIs in 2009, leading New York to its first World Series championship in nine years. The Yankees shortstop Derek Jeter smiles as he addresses a tent full of media before the full squad worked out during spring training at Steinbrenner Field in Tampa, Fla., yesterday.

Yankees have won five titles during his career.

"To be honest with you, I never put limitations on how long I can play. ... I want to play as long as I can, as long as I'm having fun, as long as I can be productive," Jeter said. "This organization prides itself on winning and putting a competitive team on the field. As long as I can help out, that's as long as I want to play."

Closer Mariano Rivera also is headed into the last season of his contract. The Yankees have a team policy of not negotiating new contracts until a player's previous deal expires, but it sounds as though the club wants to do everything it can to hang on to both players.

"Let's put it this way. I think from the fans' perspective they can count on those guys being here a lot longer than I'm going to be here. I think they're very secure," general manager Brian Cashman said.

Hughes ends career with bronze medal

LONG-TRACK Clara Hughes capped her remarkable career with an Olympic bronze medal.

The 37-year-old long-track speed-skater from Glen Sutton, Que., was third in the women's 5,000 metres at the Vancouver Olympics yesterday, an event she won four years ago in Turin.

She finished in six minutes 55.73 seconds. The time stood as a track record before it was broken twice, first by silver medalist Stephanie Beckert of Germany and then by gold medalist Martina Sablikova of the Czech Republic.

Clara Hughes

Sablikova won in 6:50.91, followed by Beckert in 6:51.39.

The medal is the sixth of Hughes's career, putting her in a tie with Winnipeg's Cindy Klassen as Canada's most decorated Olympian.

Hughes, who carried the Canadian flag into B.C. Place at the opening ceremonies, said she came into the Games thinking physical and mental excellence rather than medals or owning the podium.

"I did that in the last race of my life on ice and it was so enjoyable," Hughes told CTV.

Canadian women win gold, silver in bobsled

HISTORY Canadians have finished 1-2 in the Olympic women's bobsled.

Canada has never won an Olympic medal in women's bobsled. Now it has two.

Kaillie Humphries of Calgary and Heather Moyses of Summerside, P.E.I., drove Canada 1 to the gold in the final run, edging teammates Helen Upperton of Calgary and Shelley-Ann Brown of Pickering in the Canada 2 sled.

Humphries' winning time was three minutes 32.28 seconds over the four runs. Upperton's time was 3:33.13.

The USA 2 sled, with Erin Pac and Elana Mayes aboard, won bronze in 3:33.40.

Canada's Ryan Getzlaf celebrates with Dan Boyle after scoring a goal against Russia last night at Canada Hockey Place in Vancouver. Canada beat Russia 7-3 to advance to the semifinals.

Russians rocked

Canadians drive Nabokov from net in win

Team Canada sent Russia packing from the Olympic men's hockey tournament yesterday with a stunning 7-3 victory that showed the home team is back in high gear and firing on all cylinders.

Next up comes the winner of a Sweden-Slovakia quarter-final, which was played late last night. The semifinal goes Friday.

This was the kind of Canadian hockey that fans had been yearning for since executive director Steve Yzerman named his team in December — a physical, relentless attack combined with speed and skill.

After a slow start to the tournament, Yzerman calmly reassured the nation it was coming. His team delivered on the promise by dispatching Germany and Russia on back-to-back days by a combined score of 15-5.

The win over Russia was especially satisfying for another jam-packed house at Canada Hockey Place. There were quite a few Russian flags among the throng of red-and-white Canadian jerseys, but many of them were packed up and put away by the time the third period started.

At that point, Canada had already chased Russian goaltender Evgeni Nabokov and built a 7-3 lead in one of the most lopsided games the teams have played in recent memory.

Canada was rampant from the get-go. There was a more physical element to the team's game — Alex Ovechkin received a particularly rough ride early — and Ryan Getzlaf opened the scoring at 2:21, nearly getting knocked over by an exuberant Dan Boyle who did all the work on the play.

"We were not surprised about how they were going to start," Ovechkin said of the Canadians.

"I think we were not ready for the first five minutes of the game.

"When we woke up it was too late. It was 3-0."

Dear Kind Ottawa:

Thank you for embracing the vision of Kindness Week so wholeheartedly. In the three years that Kindness Week has been in Ottawa, we've seen it grow wildly through schools, workplaces, restaurants and shopping centres, in our homes and on the streets of our community. Other cities in the province are following our example and encouraging the kindness that exists and the kindness that can be.

THANK YOU to all the sponsors, community partners and supporters, and our media friends who made this week possible with their generosity, hard work and enthusiasm. Ottawa is a kinder place because of the kindness you have shown your community.

God Bless,
Rabbi Bulka

Bilodeau to donate $25K for cerebral palsy research

GIVING BACK Olympic freestyle skiing champion Alexandre Bilodeau calls older brother Frederic his source of inspiration.

Now, Bilodeau is doing his part to return the favour. The gold medalist in moguls announced yesterday he's donating $25,000 to the Canadian Association of Paediatric Health Centres in support of research into cerebral palsy.

For Bilodeau, the donation is a very personal one. Frederic was born with cerebral palsy and doctors said he would be in a wheelchair for life. But Frederic has proved them wrong, still walking and skiing at age 28.

Bilodeau's moguls teammate Jennifer Heil, who won silver in the women's event at the Vancouver Games, is also doing her part to give back, donating $25,000 to Because I Am A Girl. The foundation helps girls in underprivileged countries. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Battle-hardened women ready

After much preparation, Canada looks to topple U.S. and capture gold

Ryan Hilderman and most of his Calgary Royals midget club will be watching Canada and the U.S. play for Olympic women's hockey gold today.

"I'll be glued to the TV," the Royals head coach said yesterday from Calgary.

That boys between the ages of 15 and 18 would be interested in women's hockey is at the centre of this game because they've played a major role in preparing the Canadian women to battle the Americans for gold.

Being prepared is one thing, execution is another.

But the Canadian women are a battle-hardened team.

In their 55-game schedule since August, 30 of them were against Alberta Midget Hockey League teams, who provided a level of competition comparable to the American women.

"All the games we've played has brought us to a position where we're down a goal, up a goal, we know how to play," captain Hayley Wickenheiser said.

The women went 20-10 in that league, where games against Canada counted for points in their standings.

Canada's Hayley Wickenheiser, centre, handles the puck against Finland's Michelle Karvinen, right, and Jenni Hiirikoski during the women's semifinal game on Monday.

"You look back at everything we've done and we know we're ready for this game."

Becky Kellar, Team Canada defenceman

The U.S. women played some informal games against Minnesota high school boys teams, but were unable to get in as many games against males as Canada did.

In terms of preparation, the Canadian women have nothing eating at their confidence heading into today's final at Canada Hockey Place.

"You look back at everything we've done and we know we're ready for this game," defenceman Becky Kellar said.

"There's nothing I think we haven't done that we needed to do. We're ready. We're ready for this moment."

The Americans feel they are, too.

They have the confidence that comes from beating Canada in the last two games that really mattered in their sport, the finals of the 2008 and 2009 world championships.

Bernard to resume action today

CURLING Canada's Cheryl Bernard, who steamrolled the competition on her way to an 8-1 round-robin record at the Vancouver Games, will return to the ice today for a semifinal date with two-time Olympic silver medalist Mirjam Ott of Switzerland.

Just two measly wins away from an Olympic gold medal and a permanent place in Canadian Winter Games lore, members of Bernard's rink said they're trying to take things in stride. Coach Dennis Balderston feels confident in his team's game heading into the playoffs, despite the fact Bernard has been battling a cold. "They're shooting very well, they're in a very good comfort zone and they're not afraid to lose," he said.

Having kids doesn't mean having to abandon design.

Style can still play a pre-eminent role in rooms that nurture overall wellbeing, familial love and creativity. Create a space that doubles as an enhanced place of learning — decorate with retro-style games such as a chess board to engage kids in active play, integrate a chalkboard so little ones can write, or place stylish items that double as educational tools, such as an antique globe or recycled knickknacks.

Incorporate ample storage so the room doesn't become a circus and tripping zone.

"Selecting storage units in a finish that coordinates with other pieces in the room helps to create a cohesive aesthetic and is functional," Celia Tejada, senior vice president, product design and development for Pottery Barn Kids said. "Populating the storage units with baskets in various sizes paired with colourful liners provides a clean look plus the pop of colour kids love."

Store toys and books low so kids won't feel the urge to climb and they can put everything away too. A storage ottoman is a versatile piece for kids to climb on, guests to sit, for Dad to put his feet, and a place to keep toys and books.

Start spring with a reno

Every spring, green is what we start noticing on the landscape outside our homes.

But it's also what we can see inside the house, reducing its energy consumption and increasing its energy efficiency. After a long winter of high energy bills, this spring there is an opportunity to increase the energy efficiency right in your own home.

A simple project, like reinsulating your attic, can help you save on your monthly heating and cooling bills and reduce the amount of greenhouse gas emissions every year, year after year.

"Attics are the primary source of energy inefficiency in a home. Since over seven million attics in Canada are underinsulated, there is an opportunity to reduce energy consumption across the country," says David Flood, insulation expert at Owens Corning.

"Reinsulating your attic is a great way to reduce energy consumption and Spring is the time of renewal and perhaps, renovation.

help Canadians become more conscious of the small changes that impact the bigger environmental picture."

Here is how you can start your energy efficient reno today:

- Measure the amount of existing insulation in your attic. Make sure it meets the recommended standard of R-50.

- Top up existing insulation by installing up to 15 inches of PINK Fibreglas batt insulation or up to 18 1/2 inches of ProPINK Blown insulation to R-50. PINK insulation products are made with over 70 per cent recycled content and are Greenguard Indoor Air Quality Certified so you can continue to enjoy good air quality after your home upgrade.

- Take advantage of government saving incentives to help cover your home renovation costs, including materials and contractor services, for your attic insulation upgrade.

Reinsulating your attic will not only help reduce energy consumption, but the government savings will also make your home renovation more affordable.

The ecoEnergy Retrofit-Homes program is offering a grant of up to $5000 from the Government of Canada for energy efficiency renovations that have not yet started. Some energy utilities and provincial governments offer additional funding. For more information on ecoEnergy grants and incentives, visit ecoaction.gc.ca/homes. Create a greener home and start your re-insulation project today.

The best of London

Outerwear rules, bold prints make a strong statement and plus size-models re-surface

MARY KATRANTZOU

Unique

The crazy cool show for Topshop's experimental line was part of the Wild Things Are with models wearing fuzzy eyebrows, deer antlers and furry animal ears, and part of uniform dressing with army green looks and shearing aviator-style jackets. The best part about the collection was the outerwear: a shearling, hooded, navy coat, for example, felt timelessly eccentric.

Mark Fast

So much for all the hoopla about plus-size models. As of now, Mark Fast seems to be the only designer who is using them in any meaningful way, rather than just relegating curvy girls to trend-of-the-month status.

The Canadian once again cast fleshier bodies alongside thin ones in his show. The body types were diverse in an organic way. And the clothes?

His trademark body-hugging cobwebby knits were there. But this time he also incorporated draping inspired by the Art Deco period and shapes that moved away from the body. While Fast deserves many cool points for making samples in a variety of sizes, he should have spent some time thinking about the undergarment problem. The visible panty lines on some models were distracting. And no woman, of any size, wants those.

Mary Katrantzou

The designer has earned a cult-following for her trademark use of bold digital prints on figure-flattering dresses. But like many designers who create a strong, singular look, she was in danger of becoming a one-trick pony. She evolved her dresses to include more asymmetrical silhouettes, transparency, tiered ruffles and shiny embellishments.

Matthew Williamson

Change is good. Fashion's favorite nomad is evolving out of the luxe boho globetrotter look that he's become so famous for (because one can only churn out but so many interpretations of a flowy, ethnic inspired dress). This collection was all civilized tweeds, ruffles and prim trouser suits. He didn't abandon his formula completely, though. The bright, jewel-toned color palette and fun, festive party dresses at the end of the show were all quintessential Williamson.

In brief

FASHION WEEK English style ambassador Paul Smith put the classy into upper-class this week, unveiling an autumn-winter collection that evoked country houses, outdoor pursuits and just a touch of urban decadence. Tweed caps, riding capes and chunky woollens were all on display at Smith's show, one of the big draws of London Fashion Week, alongside svelte dresses and statement coats. "It's very much about the English aristocracy, and the naughty daughter who likes to sneak off to London and go to rock concerts," Smith told The Associated Press backstage at the show, held amid the old-school elegance of central London's Claridge's Hotel.

Wintour joins editor hall of fame

Already considered one of the most powerful people in fashion, Vogue's Anna Wintour is headed to the Magazine Editors' Hall of Fame.

The American Society of Magazine Editors announced Monday that Wintour would be honoured at its annual gala in April.

"Throughout her career, Anna Wintour has exemplified the highest standards of taste, in both journalism and fashion," said Sid Holt, ASME's chief executive, in a statement. "She has defined style for a generation of magazine readers and come to epitomize the essential qualities of editorial leadership."

Vogue is the standard-bearer of the high-fashion glossy magazines; its 2009 average circulation was 1,269,640. Wintour was named editor-in-chief in 1988. She had earlier been Vogue's creative director as well as the top editor at British Vogue and House & Garden.

Previous ASME honorees include Martha Stewart, Tina Brown, Helen Gurley Brown and Hugh Hefner.

New research suggests that running barefoot might be safer than wearing trainers. The reason? Many souped-up, over-cushioned shoes control where our feet land, so they make the foot's stabilizing muscles weaker, which can lead to injuries. Vibram's FiveFingers Bikila shoes (named after an Olympic marathon champ who ran sans sneakers) fit like a glove and simulate barefoot running. But if you prefer the protection of a conventional shoe, Brooks' new DNA model offers smart technology that adjusts the cushioning to your body weight and running style.

As Winfrey makes plans to end her reign after 25 seasons, King is devoting more time to a different medium. She hosts on Oprah Radio on Sirius XM

Barber a True Believer

Matthew Barber

Album: True Believer

Label: Outside

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈⓈ

THERE'S NO REASON

Matthew Barber shouldn't be getting the same kind of attention as Jason Collett or Joel Plaskett. The Toronto folk singer can write passionate Canadiana with the best of them and there's more proof of that on his new disc, True Believer. It's loaded with soft, acoustic numbers, but it's the more upbeat full band numbers where the artist really leaves his mark. Comeback Baby is an especially good listen, with its subtle banjo, loud cymbal crashes and rootsy vocals.

Toronto folk singer Matthew Barber's new album True Believer is right up there with other Canadian stalwarts such as Jason Collett and Joel Plaskett, Metro reviewer Bryan Borzykowski says.

Johnny Cash

Album: American VI: Ain't No Grave

Label: American Recordings/Lost Highway

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈⓈ

IT MAY BE TABOO

to slight the work of a national icon posthumously yet country legend Johnny Cash's American series of albums provided diminishing returns. Strange covers with few interesting twists prevailed and in retrospect, only the first two truly bolster his extensive catalogue. Still, even those albums lack the passion, haunting aura and serenity of Ain't No Grave. Recorded after Cash had envisioned/reconciled his mortality, these 10 pseudo-religious, almost Gothic tracks glow with minimalist brilliance. Featuring his crumbling baritone supported by little more than guitar and piano, it's beautifully crushing—a bittersweet cap to an enviable, incredible career.

Joey McIntyre

Album: Here We Go

Label: Universal

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈ

IT'S HARD TO tell who Joey

McIntyre is targeting with this EP. The New Kid On the Block sound a lot like Britney Spears and Lady Gaga here — not his voice, but the tunes could have found their way on any pop record. It's hard to see how his 30-something fans would enjoy these electro club tunes, even though the songs are better than anything on the last NKOTB disc.

Lightspeed Champion

Album: Life is Sweet! Nice To Meet You

Label: Domino/Outside

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈ

DEVONTE HYNES

has come a long way since his days busting out aggressive noise pop. As Lightspeed Champion the U.K.-based artist deals with lush, layered sounds and heartfelt lyrics. His latest pushes him in further in that direction, to mixed results. Opener Dead Head Blues is a bland, dramatic Coldplay-like tune, but the quirky Queen-like piano track The Big Guns of Highsmith is one of the most interesting things he's done. Might be best to download the better tracks than buy the entire disc.

Jenny Whiteley

Album: Forgive or Forget

Label: Black Hen

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈⓈ

JENNY WHITELEY

has one of the sweetest voices in Canadian alt-country and she's got two Juno awards to prove it. Steve Dawson is one of the best practitioners of guitar in the land. The Vancouver-based session man is also one of the respected roots/Americana producer's in the continent (which explains why U.S. performers like Kelly Joe Phelps keep coming north to record). When the two of them combine in the studio, they always seem to take each other's craft to new places. Whiteley takes a retro twang turn on songs like Cold Cold Kisses and Raining In My Heart.

Shout Out Louds

Album: Work

Label: Merge

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈⓈ

STOCKHOLM'S SHOUT OUT LOUDS

have always prided themselves on melancholy as much as they have melody. Album number three finds the five-piece returning with a batch of songs that are similar but even more earnest than 2007's Our Ill Wills. While they have finally determined their sound, the hooks are slightly less beguiling than the first two albums.

Bold gem colours and loud beats warm the mood at Savana Café, but the amazing Caribbean food makes it a hot spot.

starter, a main and a dessert. To start, my friends chose the Sweet Potato Soup with Cinnamon Crème Fraîche that included a hint of spice from a bird's eye chili, and where sweet and spicy mingled cleverly.

I enjoyed the well-rounded salad that included all the tastes of sweet, sour, salty, bitter and umami on one plate. For the main, one friend ordered the Hanger Steak ($21), which was tender and cooked impeccably.

The Vegetable Green Curry came with a delicious coconut-infused sauce, but the vegetables needed more time on the chopping board to be bite-sized.

I enjoyed the Black Cod ($21) but it was buried under a mountain of Savana Slaw.

The fufu, a thick porridge of plantains and chorizo, cradled the fish and offered a delicious layer of flavour and texture.

Hanger Steak ($21)

To indulge ourselves, we all ordered the banana, coconut and chocolate bread pudding. I was happy with the balance of bananas to chocolate, but the chocolate lovers were disappointed.

Like the islands, the pace was a little slow at times, but no worries because it's worth the wait.

Hardware is handed out tonight in women's figure skating, in which teenagers Rachael Flatt and Mirai Nagasu represent the United States' best hope for a medal after Sasha Cohen crashed and burned last month at the U.S. Nationals. Of course, with reigning world champion Kim Yu-Na of South Korea in the field, gold may be hard to come by. In freestyle skiing, Americans Ryan St. Onge and Jeret "Speedy" Peterson look formidable in men's aerials. 8 PM on 9 NBC

Carbon Hunters

There's gold in them there smokestacks. This documentary from Vancouver filmmaker Miro Cernetic explores the booming carbon credit trade, in which companies that emit less than their allowed quota of greenhouse gases sell their unused allowances to those who need them. As with any other commodity, the people who broker these trades can make big money. 9 PM on 8 CBC

Celebrity Buzz

No pulse, no breathing

NO SKIN PIGMENTATION A recording of the moment paramedics first announced Michael Jackson's death has been found online, reports femalefirst.co.uk. The voice on the tape — which is believed to feature a Los Angeles Fire Department medic calling ahead to the UCLA Hospital in Santa Monica — could even be used as new evidence in the trial against the star's personal physician Dr. Conrad Murray who has been charged with involuntary manslaughter. The voice is heard saying, "Patient is Michael Jackson, the pop star singer. No pulse, no breathing. Unresponsive. Tried to resuscitate him. Unsuccessful. We've done everything we can. We should be there in five minutes. It doesn't look good. It doesn't look good." If the recording is genuine then it would be crucial to the trial into Michael's death because it contradicts the timeline of events previously stated by Murray who said the 50-year-old music legend still had a pulse and was warm when he put him in the ambulance.

If the tape is used, prosecutors would argue Murray, 56, actually left Michael for more than an hour after giving him the powerful sedative Propofol, making his actions careless.

The tape, which emerged on the ambulance workers' web forum, is thought to be the first time the announcement was made that Jackson was dead on June 25 last year, although authorities do not yet know whether it is genuine.

Bidding 'Ciao' to Lake Como

AND 'BENVENUTO' TO THE BECKHAM BROOD George Clooney is reportedly looking to give up his 30-room villa in Laglio, Italy, and he already has a buyer lined up: David Beckham. The British football star is said to have fallen for the estate after visiting last year. "I have fallen in love with the beautiful countryside," Beckham reportedly told friends, according to the Daily Mail. "It's peaceful, quiet and near Milan. It would be great for the family." Clooney is said to be selling because he's fed up with attention from locals and paparazzi at the property. The asking price is said to be around $30.8 million US.

Going back to the block

WITH A BUSKING HAT IN HAND

It looks like Jennifer Lopez's split from her record label wasn't so amicable after all, with sources claiming that Epic Records actually dropped her over the poor performance of her latest singles and the fear that her new album would be a flop, according to Gatecrasher.

"Jennifer hasn't been on top of her game for a while," a source says, while another source adds that it will take some money on Lopez's part for the album to see the light of day now.

"Epic technically owns the material from her album, so she needs to buy it back from them to have control over it," the source says.

"But she'll try to release the album online if need be. It may be her last resort to take control of a poor situation."

OK, SO MONEY CAN'T BUY YOU LOVE BUT IT CAN BUY YOU LIFESTYLE

Johnny Depp enjoys his privacy, admitting that he doesn't leave his estate in the south of France for months at a time, according to Hollyscoop.

"We have a great place," he says of the home he shares with girlfriend Vanessa Paradis and their two children.

"I've not left the property for three months at a time. I literally just wake up, go out, check the garden and see the vegetables growing.

"It's a pristine existence in terms of simplicity. There's no talk of movies or work and, infinitely more important, the telephone never rings. It really is a beautiful, simple life."

Love is a two-way street

AND I THINK THIS ONE MIGHT BE A DEADEND, CHICKIE

Lindsay Lohan has her heart set on getting back together with Samantha Ronson, she tells the Sun.

"We love each other. We might reconcile the relationship," she says.

"It's changed, so who's to say we won't be together again?"

And if Lohan can't have Ronson, she says she'll probably be off women for good.

"If I wasn't with Samantha, I would probably be with a boy next. She's the only woman I've been attracted to."

Woody T. Mommason

GENUINE SENTIMENTS OR GROOMED BY HIS HANDLERS?

YOU DECIDE Woody Harrelson's mother only approves of his career now he's been nominated for an Oscar, according to femalefirst.co.uk.

The 48-year-old star — who is up for a Best Supporting Actor Academy Award for his role as Captain Tony Stone in The Messenger — has only just been accepted as an actor by his mum Diane, because he has been short-listed for an honour alongside Hollywood veteran Christopher Plummer.

He revealed, "I got a note from my mom, and she said, 'You finally arrived. You've been nominated in the same category with Christopher Plummer.' So, I got my mom's approval, which is enough, you know what I mean? I don't need a statue."

Harrelson and Plummer are up against In-victus hunk Matt Damon, The Lovely Bones star Stanley Tucci and In-glorious Bastards actor Christoph Waltz for the prize.

Metro Recipe of the Day

Pan-Roasted Sweet Potato & Vegetable Medley

Submitted by Tammy Roy, St. Thomas, Ont.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1/3 cup fresh shucked corn
- 1/3 cup asparagus, chopped
- 1/3 cup mushrooms, sliced
- 1/3 cup sweet potato, diced
- 1/2 shallot, diced
- 1/3 cup diced tomato
- 1 tsp garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup chicken stock
- 2 tbsp olive oil
- salt and pepper

METHOD:

1. Roast sweet potato in oven at 350°F for 20 minutes beforehand. Then season the potatoes with

- salt and pepper and place on a greased cooking sheet in oven for another 10 minutes at 350°F before adding to the vegetable mixture.
2. Sauté shallots and garlic in 1 tbsp olive oil.
3. Add another tbsp olive oil to the garlic and shallots, if necessary, and all remaining vegetables, including sweet potatoes.
4. Sauté everything for 5 minutes.
5. Add stock and reduce for 2 minutes and serve.

ARIES

MARCH 21-APRIL 20

Take time out from your busy schedule to offer a word of praise or advice to someone who is struggling.

TAURUS

APRIL 21-MAY 21

Don't be afraid to put your point of view across today, even if you are not entirely sure that you've got it right.

LIBRA

SEPT 23-OCT 23

For some strange reason you appear to be taking too much notice of what other people say at the moment.

SCORPIO

OCT 24-NOV 22

Although you can see that the changes now taking place in your life will be for the best, you still wish that certain things could remain the same.

GEMINI

MAY 22-JUNE 21

If you are having negative thoughts about someone then you must bring them under control.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23-DEC 21

Be fair in all your dealings over the next few days. If you take even the smallest of liberties you will find that someone is ready to question your integrity.

CANCER

JUNE 22-JULY 22

You can be remarkably persuasive when you want to be and you can easily convince those in positions of authority to back your latest good idea with cash.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22-JAN 20

You may not be able to explain why you feel wary of someone but you know better than to ignore what your inner voice tells you.

LEO

JULY 23-AUG 23

The best way to get rid of a bad habit is to replace it with a good one, so find something you really like doing and focus on that.

AQUARIUS

JAN 21-FEB 18

Life is what you make of it, and if you make an effort to be cheerful today you will find plenty of things to enjoy.

VIRGO

AUG 24-SEPT 22

Your analytical nature, plus your way with words, can lead to some pretty sharp observations and you won't hesitate to call it as you see it today.

PISCES

FEB 19-MARCH 20

The Sun in your sign makes you unusually decisive: if you want something badly enough you will find a way to get it.
